About Ebooks at Greenwich

What are ebooks?

Ebooks are electronic books published in different formats such as ePub, PDF, HTML, ACSM and Kindle. Academic publishers make electronic versions of their book titles available for individuals, institutions and libraries to purchase or subscribe to. Due to the terms of the licences some titles are not available for libraries to purchase for their members even though they are available for individuals to buy.

Who can borrow ebooks?

University of Greenwich staff or student members (includes UK or overseas Partner students), studying or teaching on Greenwich undergraduate or postgraduate courses.

How do I find ebooks?

Locate them in LibrarySearch and search within the e-book platforms via the Online databases and academic journals link in the My Learning/Learning Support pages in the University portal.

What ebooks are available?

- Ebook Central consists of over 12,000 individual titles across a wide range of subjects.
- Dawsonera is a multidisciplinary ebook platform. You can access around 3,500 titles we own. Additionally you can search, preview and rent books from over 530,000 titles from a wide range of publishers.
- Cambridge Core comprises a total of 981 titles from the Economics collection, Film, Media, Mass Communication collection and titles published between the years 2006 to 2010 from the Sociology collection.
- Oxford Scholarship Online comprises 433 titles from the Business and Management, and Economics and Finance subject collections.
- Emerald comprises more than 730 volumes from over 85 ebook Series in 15 subject areas.
- Additional titles have been purchased in EBSCO e-books.
How do I access ebooks?

The University uses single-sign on via the portal to authenticate our students/staff and provide access to our ebooks on and off campus. This has to be done via the University of Greenwich portal. Log in to the portal http://portal.gre.ac.uk/ with your User ID and password (not the 000 student ID number).

Select the My Learning/Learning Support page.

In the Search the Library portlet enter your title or keywords in the Library Search box.

In LibrarySearch filter your search results by selecting Electronic Resources in Format and then select Online in Location from the Limit Search Results menu.

Alternatively if you want to use a specific e-books resource select the Online databases and academic journals link also in the Search the Library portlet.

On the next page the e-resources are arranged alphabetically by title.

Select the letter of the alphabet at the top of the list or scroll down and choose the name to be transferred into the resource. E.g. Dawsonera, Ebook Central etc.

A note about off campus access

When you search for ebooks in LibrarySearch on campus from a networked University PC you will be able to click through to the full text of the electronic title because you are connecting from within the IP range of the University.

When you are connect from outside the University network or from home, it is simpler to access ebook titles by following the steps above to enter individual resources. When you try to connect from LibrarySearch in the portal off campus you will be required to select ‘University of Greenwich’ from a drop-down menu list or by following the ‘Institutional Login’ link on the page. Do not select the OpenAthens Login link because we do not use individual Athens usernames and passwords to access resources at the University.
